

ABSTRACT

[0054] A cleaning apparatus includes a one piece, blow-molded body supporting a debris or dirt removing material, such as a tubular, adhesive lint remover roller and/or a stationary directional lint brush fabric. The body includes a unitary handle and roller support. In one aspect, the handle is formed of a transparent material such that one or more labels, each carrying decorative indicia may be viewed through the handle for a decorative effect. An insert defining decorative indicia may be inserted into the handle to provide a decorative effect by itself or in combination with decorative indicia on one or both of the exteriorly mounted labels.